Criticizes Letter On Court Site

GRAND HAVEN — Chairman William Kennedy of the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners charged the Grand Haven Committee for Economic Development with unfair criticism of the board at Monday's board meeting, following receipt of a letter involving the location of the proposed new county district court building for south Ottawa county at Holland.

The CED board, an organization of industrialists and bankers in the Tri Cities area, submitted a letter to Kennedy last week, in which the CED complained that the board had not considered housing the court in some commercial building in Holland, rather than spending $250,000 on a new structure near the new police station.

"In the first place," Kennedy told the board, "I don't believe it is 'cricket' to publish a letter in the Grand Haven Tribune on Saturday, before the board or the board chairman has a chance to answer the charges made in the letter."

Franklin Schmidt, Coopersville, chairman of the improvement committee, said that his group considered use of an existing building but police officials recommend that the court building be located near the new police station and its city jail on Eighth St. Schmidt's committee has decided to erect the building on Eighth St. west of the present police station, and not on Seventh St. he said.

Board members of Holland took exception to the letter, read by the clerk, and said that Holland merchants favor building the court downtown in Holland. Commissioner Robert Visscher said that Holland residents are eager to have some of the new county buildings. Several have been built at Grand Haven in recent years.

Kennedy said many problems would arise if an old building was to be used and Commissioner Alvin Geerlings of Holland said that conversion of an old building would cost close to $250,000.

A petition bearing 76 names of Olive township residents was submitted to the board, protesting the proposed location of a county-wide sanitary landfill and dumping ground on a site in that township. The petition was referred to the solid waste committee and it was announced that a suit started by the township in Circuit Court, seeking an injunction against the road commission, would be heard March 1.

The board accepted a 150-page report of the Bauer Engineering firm of Chicago on the Water Quality Management Plan for the Black River Basin at Holland and approved the payment of $32,500, cost of the survey. Fifty additional copies of the report will be printed and will be made available at libraries and other places in the county.

Chairman Thomas De Pree of the planning committee reported that April 1 is the deadline for applications by governmental units which seek funds from the state recreation funding. Grand Haven has been awarded a grant for improvements to Mulligan's Hollow park. The Department of Natural Resources has recommended that three other projects be approved. The largest project is a $92,800 project at Lincoln Park in Holland, a $27,189 project has been recommended for Alendale township park and $14,014 for a park at Coopersville.

The sheriff's committee, Bert Schuitema, chairman, and the Park township board plan to meet Feb. 25 to discuss vandalism, rowdiness and parking problems at Holland state park.

Director of Social Services Larry Hillmore reported that the new stamp plan for distribution of food to welfare families is operating satisfactorily in north Ottawa county but a problem will arise Feb. 22 as one of the large banks at Holland plans to discontinue sale of stamps. Hillmore and Holland commissioners plan a meeting with bank officials to solve the problem.

County Civil Defense Director Glen Timmer presented a revised emergency plan, updated from the plan adopted in 1958.

School Bus Millage Vote Set Feb. 15

Resolutions setting up a special school transportation millage election Feb. 15 in connection with the city primaries were adopted by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night in the high school library.

The resolutions set up polling places, election boards, counting board, and the like. Roughly, polling places coincide with the city's 14 regular polling places, plus polling places in Federal and Harrington Schools. Hours are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The issue calls for 1½ mills for five years to provide transportation for all boys and girls in the Holland school district (public and nonpublic schools) who live beyond a mile from the school they attend. Complete mapping of the district has been completed and routes have tentatively been drawn.

The 1½ mills would produce an estimated $180,000 a year much of which in the earlier part of the period would go for equipment. Should the need for funds become less after the original investment in equipment, only that millage needed would be levied in later years.

Information programs, sponsored by the Holland PTO Council, are slated over local radio stations at 2:05 p.m. Thursday and 4:05 p.m. Friday.

President James O. Lamb extended the board's sympathy to the Hungerink family in the death of Joy Hungerink who taught 39 years, 29 of them in Maplewood School.

He also gave recognition to Barbara Lampen, the coach of the Holland High team which topped other teams in a Grand Rapids quiz bowl for three weeks in succession. Lamb said he was happy to recognize academic achievement, since most attention usually is reserved for athletic events.

Miss Margaret Van Vyven and Mrs. Helen Brockmeier gave a departmental report in the kindergarten program in Holland public schools, outlining some of the experiences in dealing with 450 kindergartners in the system and the wide differences among the children, some of whom have had little or no previous experiences in social contacts.

Aims are geared to growing physically and mentally, teaching the children to think and to prepare them for reading, provide specific training for disadvantaged youngsters, and to encourage youngsters to enjoy school and achieve individual aims.

"Most kindergartners love school and want to do what the teacher wants them to do," Miss Brockmeier said.

In other business, the board approved plans for a spring vacation trip to Madrid, Spain, for a group of students who have had at least a year of foreign language. The program was explained by Mrs. Linda Cuba, Spanish teacher, who said 17 have signed for the trip including seven Holland High students, two E. E. Fell students, five Christian High students, two local teachers and two Fennville teachers.

The trip, offered at a cost of $355 apiece, calls for a flight from Detroit to Spain, conducted tours around Madrid, an opera, a bull fight, cultural visits, a soccer game visit to a palace, museums, etc., plus some contact with Spanish-speaking people. Briefing sessions and orientation have begun, Mrs. Cuba said.

The board approved hiring Mrs. Susan Bolton to teach fourth grade in Holland Heights school replacing Mrs. Clarence Van Wieren whose husband has been transferred to Florida. Mrs. Bolton is a 1970 graduate of Hope College.

Meets Tonight

The Board of Appeals will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in council chambers of City Hall for a public hearing on a petition of Mrs. Marjorie J. Miller who seeks a variance from zoning requirements to divide property at the southwest corner of 25th St. and Azalea Ave. The property is in A-1 one-family residential zone, and division of the parcel would reduce lot area less than the minimum required.

Fighting Hawks Stop Caledonia in O-K Game

HAMILTON — Hamilton's Fighting Hawkeys chopped Caledonia's Scotties to size here Tuesday night by taking a 59-57 basketball decision.

The victory gives Coach Tom Bos' Hawks a 6-3 O-K Blue Division mark compared to the Scotties 4-6 record. For all games Hamilton is 8-4.

"Jack Schrotenboer really did a job for us in that fourth period," stated Bos. "He scored eight of our 15 points and I was sure pleased with the way he bounced off the bench for us." Caledonia hit on one more field goal than Hamilton 24-23 but the Hawks netted 13 of 22 free throws compared to only nine of 18 for the Scotties.

Hamilton took down 45 rebounds to 38 for the Scotties. Carl Slotman led the way with 13 while center Kerwin Roelofs chipped in with 11.

Slotman led the winners in scoring with 21 points while guard Randy Busscher and Schrotenboer followed with 11 apiece. Kent Marsh tallied 24 counters for the losers.

Brad Brinks tossed in 21 points as Hamilton rallied to take the reserve game, 54-50. The Hawkeys trailed at the end of the first quarter, 20-8.

Hamilton will play at Kelloggsville Friday.

NOSE Tips by Leo Martonosi

The Detroit Tigers All-Star catcher Bill Freehan told us Thursday in an interview that he would like to see a new stadium built in Pontiac.

"I only live two miles from the site of the proposed new Lions stadium," laughed Freehan, who was supporting a goatee but indicated that he would shave it off before spring training.

Freehan, who does public relations work for the Vernors Bottling Co., products of Brooks,

Bill Freehan ... in Holland Thursday Inc. spoke at Holland High, the Rotary Club and with area high school baseball coaches and players Thursday.

"I know one thing for sure," cracked Freehan. "They'll never be able to afford to build two stadiums."

The Detroit Lions President William Ford had announced earlier that the Lions would be moving to Pontiac because of the failure of Detroit to build a suitable stadium.

John Fetzer, owner of the Tigers, said Thursday that he will back a plan for a riverfront stadium, if it has suitable parking and facilities. This would throw the whole mess into an uproar which is sure to get juicier by the day.

"The people of Detroit and surrounding areas, Bay City, Saginaw, Grand Rapids and Holland would be able to reach Pontiac much faster than if they had to drive to a riverfront stadium," said Freehan.

Freehan indicated that he may be prejudiced in his thinking when we back him wholeheartedly in his statement.

Wouldn't it be easier for people in the Holland and outstate areas to reach a new stadium in Pontiac then Detroit? And don't forget the parking problem that the riverfront stadium will encounter. Like Bob Koop, Holland businessman, has pointed out, "will our cars be safe there?"

"I would like very much to play in a new stadium but I feel that it will take at least five years to build one and even longer if they build in Detroit," stated the friendly Tiger catcher.

"Denny McLain was the best pitcher that I have ever caught and I'm sorry to see him go but I honestly believe that we made a heck of a trade in picking up Eddie Brinkman, Joe Coleman and Aurelio Rodriguez. Brinkman and Rodriguez will give us better defense which should help our pitching tremendously."

"The writers were out of line when they said that Denny and I didn't get along," snapped Freehan. And we have to admit that before talking to Freehan, that we thought there was a feud but now we don't because if Freehan was like one writer that we recently talked to, he could have cut Denny to pieces but he didn't and we give him credit for that.

Freehan doesn't expect to be 100 per cent ready to go by spring training because of his back surgery and added, "I'm going to take it easy in spring training and give it time to get real strong like it once was."

The Tigers catcher was in favor of the fans voting for the All-Star game and has set some high goals for himself this year. "I would like to first, win the world series and second, bat in over 100 runs."

Wearing a U-M ring on his right hand and a wedding ring on the other, Freehan said, "this world series ring is the biggest thing that ever happened to me. We were the world champs in 1968 and I'll never forget it."

"Baltimore is naturally the team to beat in our division but the Yankees, Red Sox and Senators are all going to be tough," cried Freehan.

"Motivation is probably the big reason why we don't dominate teams like Kansas City, Chicago and Milwaukee. It's no secret that we seem to get more fired up for teams like Baltimore and Minnesota," said Freehan.

Freehan expects the Tigers to be a far better team in 1971 than they were in 1970 under Mayo Smith. "I'm looking forward to playing under Billy Martin and I can hardly wait for spring training to start."

"Denny wasn't favored over any other player on the team. A lot that was said of him just wasn't true," Freehan stated.

Freehan is optimistic about the Tigers chances of knocking the Birds off the top of the tree and so are we. We will be on hand for the Bengals opener on April 6, rooting for the Tigers to defeat the Cleveland Indians and "Sudden" Sam McDowell.

The year 1970 may be the age of Aquarius but it wasn't the year of the Tiger. Nineteen seventy - one may be tough and we sure hope so.

HOLIDAYS ON WEEKENDS

We don't like this new holiday schedule.

Maybe we're old-fashioned, but celebrating Washington's Birthday on Feb. 15 just doesn't seem right.

And we aren't any happier over the other changes under the new federal Monday Holiday Law. This calls for celebrating Washington's birthday the third Monday of February, Memorial Day the last Monday in May, Labor Day the first Monday in September (no change there), Columbus Day the second Monday in October and Veterans Day the fourth Monday in October.

We're glad there are no changes in Independence Day July 4, on Thanksgiving Day Thursday, Nov. 25, or Christmas on Dec. 25. Congress could hardly change Jan. 1. As it turns out in 1971, July 4, Christmas and New Year's day fall on the weekend anyway.

For years, safety officials have been sharply concerned over the increased death tolls on any holiday weekend. Now Congress in one swoop has totally ignored the safety factor and has put four holidays on Monday. Even though this change has been in the discussion stage a long time, it still seems high-handed action.

The holiday change for Washington's birthday is further compounded in that it falls three days from Lincoln's birthday this year. This closes banks and courts for two days. The post office recognizes only national holidays and will be closed one day. Lincoln's birthday is a state holiday in Michigan.

Humility Before God
Luke 14: 7-11; 18: 9-14
By C. P. Dame

A wife said to her pastor one day, "My husband is a proud man, he comes from a proud family." The proud people are hungry for honors and for important positions. The Bible teaches that God rates high the humble.

I. Seeking honors is rather common and it was not uncommon in the days of Jesus. One Sabbath Day Jesus was at the home of a ruler who was a Pharisee and Jesus drew attention. People watched Him, even when He was a guest, and Jesus watched the people, rating how they acted. At dinner Jesus observed how the invited guests scrambled for the seats of honor and Jesus gave counsel to them, saying they should not sit down in the highest place lest they should lose it to those more honorable. Rather they should sit in the lowest place and then be invited to a higher place, thus being publicly honored.

Pride is one of the seven deadly sins. Our first parents fell due to pride and pride manifests itself in various ways. Some join churches for social reasons and in business some push aside those who they think are holding them back. Today modern man is apt to be proud because of his achievements. God is pleased with humble people.

II. Pride is most out of place in a church. Jesus told a parable about two worshippers, one a Pharisee, the other a Publican. Both were religious, both prayed in the Temple, both acknowledged God and believed in Him. Jesus had a purpose in mind in telling about these worshippers—it was meant for those who trusted in themselves and despised others.

The Pharisee in his prayer told about his goodness —he fasted twice a week, tithed even the herbs of his garden, observed the Sabbath, went to the services in the synagogue regularly and outwardly lived like a religious man. He thanked God that he was not as other men are, "extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican" who stood a distance away. The man's prayer showed plainly that he did not know God, nor did he know himself.

III. Humility is in place in God's house. The Publican was working for the Roman government and had no standing with the people for many of the publicans were not honest. With downcast eyes, the publican smote his breast and said, "God be merciful to me a sinner." The man knew God, knew himself, and got what he wanted for Jesus said that he went home justified. The humble stand high in the opinion of God who hates the proud but loves people with contrite hearts.

Looman-Ter Haar Vows Are Exchanged Tuesday

Mrs. Ronald D. Looman

Pine Creek Christian Reformed Church was the scene of the exchange of wedding vows Tuesday evening at 7:15 between Miss A. Lynn Ter Haar and Ronald D. Looman.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Ter Haar of 653 136th Ave. and the groom is the son of John Looman, 69 West 29th St., and the late Mrs. Looman. The Rev. Fred Van Houten officiated at the ceremony, where Mrs. Tom Vandenberg was organist and the Holland Christian Singing Boys provided the musical accompaniment.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory satin having reembroidered alencon lace inset on the high neckline and forming the teacup cuffed sleeves. The removable trumpet train had matching lace motifs. Her matching camelot headpiece released a double train-length veil and a double-tier face veil of illusion.

Matron of honor Mrs. Duane Ten Have, sister of the bride from Tucson, Arizona, wore a tangerine shantung gown with chiffon overskirt and chiffon bishop sleeves. There was olive and tangerine lace at the cuffs and mandarin collar, and the two-tiered veiled Juliet cap of tangerine shantung had lace to match the dress.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph Michner, of Jackson, Mrs. Clare Van Wieren of Wichita Falls, Texas, sisters of the bride, and Carol Kamer. The bride's sister Kim Suzanne Ter Haar was junior bridesmaid. They wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honor, and they all carried white roses and olive green grapes.

Holland Swimmers Post 8th Victory of Season

The Holland High swimming team posted its eighth victory of the season, splashing past the South Haven Rams 67-38 Tuesday evening in the Holland Community Pool.

Bringing the Dutch to a 3-4 mark in the Southwest Michigan Swimming Conference, Coach Bob Andrew was pleased with the performance of his stroke, particularly noting the medley relay team's record.

The meet opened as Jim Bradford, Bruce Keen, Dick Beendon, and Dave Holt snatched a first place team record of 1:51.9 in the medley relay.

Things continued to go the way of the powerful home team as Dave Ter Haar and Scott Maentz, both sophomores, recorded first and second places in the 200 yard freestyle in a close race. Their times of 2:08.4 and 2:08.9 both knocked 5 seconds off the old sophomore record in that event.

In the individual medley, Jack Beukema chalked up first place points for Holland. Diver Dave Sundin, the lone Dutch entrant in that event, came off the boards with 171.45 points for first place in his specialty.

In the 400-yard freestyle competition, Dave Ter Haar tallied first place with his 4:41.0 time.

The Holland squad didn't yield an inch in the final event, in spite of their 59-34 margin, as Tom Van Huis, Rich Kruid, Jim Holt, and Scott Maentz pulled for first place in the freestyle relay.

The Dutch are now 8-5 in dual meet competition, and 3-4 in league competition will travel to Kalamazoo Loy Norrix to face the Knights in a league contest Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 6:30 p.m.

The St. Joseph dual meet cancelled earlier because of weather will be held March 1 in St. Joe, while the league meet for the Dutch will also be held in St. Joe March 5 and 6.

Wolves Bomb West Ottawa In O-K Game

West Ottawa's Panthers were as cold as the weather Tuesday night as Godwin smashed them 93-61 in a Big Red Division basketball game. The loss dropped West Ottawa's record to 1-12 for the season.

This game was a far cry from the first game these teams played earlier in the season when Godwin won in a double overtime at the Panthers gym. Godwin seemed like a much improved team, outscoring the Panthers in every period. The Wolverines wasted no time jumping off to a 21 to 13 lead in the first quarter and were never in trouble.

West Ottawa's only bright spot of the evening was from the charity stripe where they sank 25 out of 38 for a fine percentage, but could only hit on 18 from 77 from the field for a very frigid 24 per cent.

Godwin took a 42 to 28 lead into the lockerroom at the half which was about as close as the Panthers got. Coach Joe Jauch was forced to substitute early in the first half as both of his centers, Jim Bagladi and Keith Raak had three personals.

It was a hard driving first half as both teams turned the ball over several times with Godwin putting the press on the Panthers early. Mike Gorman was able to get several nice rebounds but the Panthers missed the hot shooting of Doug Cook who has been sick for the last couple days and was used very little.

The third period was cold for the Panthers as they hit on only three of seventeen from the field for a cool 18 per cent while the Wolverines were getting some layups by Jay Zylstra who ended up with 23 points for Godwin followed closely by Dan Strowbridge with 21.

The Panthers had the best period in the final quarter as they scored 22 points. Godwin did have more turnovers than West Ottawa, but it was close, as the Wolves turned it over 19 times to West Ottawa's 17.

Con Zommermaand was the only Panther player to get in the double figures as he had 11 followed by Doug Alverson and Ron Holstine with nine and eight respectively.

West Ottawa's reserves lost in a thrilling contest 76-69 in overtime. The regulation game ended up at 67-41 and in the three minute overtime the Panthers could muster only two points.

The Panthers meet rugged Kentwood in the West Ottawa gym on Friday.

The name Thomas is derived from an Aramic word meaning "twin."

Dutch Colonists Arrived Here 124 Years Ago Today

By Bill Vande Water . . .

It was around 125 years ago that a group of Dutch people under the leadership of Dr. Albertus C. Van Raalte were making plans to immigrate to America, a move that became reality a year later when Dr. Van Raalte and a small group set foot on what became Holland, Mich., Feb. 9, 1847.

In the summer of 1846, the Rev. Thomas De Witt, D. D. of New York City was sent by General Synod of the Reformed Church (Dutch) in America, to the Netherlands as Synod's representative.

He reported to Synod in 1847: "When in Holland I received information of a rising spirit of emigration to America and especially among the (afgescheidenen), rich seceders from the established church. Soon two important colonies will be founded of this class."

By fall of 1846, Van Raalte and others at Arnhem had published a pamphlet titled "Why do we advocate emigration to North America and not to Java?"

On Sept. 14, 1846, Van Raalte and his party boarded the Southern which operated out of Boston, under Capt. W. J. Crosby. Among the party were such names as De Kruif, Zegers, Lankheet, Klaasen, Oldemeyer, Karman, Laarman and other names still familiar in this city.

Most of the group continued to Michigan and Van Raalte obtained work for the men in the shipyards at St. Clair and near Detroit.

While in Detroit, Van Raalte managed to meet the right people. He could speak no English except for a few words he learned from the captain of the Southern, but he made an appearance before the Michigan legislature which was meeting at that time in Detroit. Short of stature, bright eyed, earnest and resolute in manner, Van Raalte was the personification of the Dutch dominion. Here he met the Hon. Lewis Cass, former governor of the Michigan territory and later a U.S. Senator.

Van Raalte made his first visit to western Michigan in December, 1846. Stopping in Kalamazoo with a letter to the Rev. Ora P. Hoyt who arranged a meeting for him with Judge John R. Kellogg of Allegan, who recommended Ottawa county, so during the last week of December that year the Judge and Van Raalte traveled through dense forests to Black River, arriving at Old Wing Mission on New Year's Eve. On New Year's day they traveled six miles through deep snow to the Indian village on Black Lake present site of Heinz factory, and Van Raalte remained in the area until Jan. 11, 1847, as a guest of Rev. George N. Smith at Old Wing Mission, located on East 40th St. about a quarter mile south of Waverly Rd.

Returning to Detroit, Van Raalte purchased hundreds of acres in Ottawa and north Allegan counties. His first purchases totaled 1,511 acres at a cost of $65.07. A year later he bought 3,320 more acres from eastern interests.

The move to west Michigan was organized. Six families left Detroit for Kalamazoo, and then Allegan where families were to stay until shelters were built.

DR. ALBERTUS CHRISTIAAN VAN RAALTE
OCT. 17, 1811 - NOV. 4, 1876

Then Van Raalte, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Notting (Mrs. Notting went along as cook), Evert Zegers, Egbert Fredricks, Hermanus Lankheet, left for the new colony in a sled drawn by six oxen loaned to the group by Judge Kellogg.

They arrived at Old Wing Mission the evening of Feb. 9, 1847, and were greeted in the lamplight by Rev. Smith and a small group. The pioneers were weary. Faces were frost-bitten in the biting cold, and colonists were tired from walking in the deep snow drifts.

The party stayed at the mission while constructing two log cabins. These immigrants first had to learn how to chop down a tree, and then had to be taught how to place the logs. These first cabins were placed on that which became known as the Vander Haar farm in Holland township. Two others were built on the edge of the then known Cedar Swamp. The pioneers received great assistance from Isaac Fairbanks, the Indian agent for the U.S. government.

Many societies had been formed for Netherlands emigrants, and some money was obtained for the colonization in West Michigan. After Van Raalte's death, it was learned that all loans had been paid, and all funds and supplies given gratis to the colony had been accounted for.

The Dutch colonists were not prepared for life in the woods and swamps of Michigan. Early spring saw an epidemic of small pox, malaria and cholera, all taking a heavy toll. The first death was Mrs. Notting, the only woman who had accompanied the original group. Dr. J. S. Van Nus had joined the colonists, but his Dutch training had not prepared him for the new diseases and the lack of medical supplies.

Van Raalte also served as a doctor, meeting the ill around his kitchen table and dispensing quinine, calomel and rubarb. Deaths were frequent, and the household head usually arranged with Van Raalte to have a carpenter make a wooden casket.

Van Raalte also purchased acreages in what is now Zeeland and Jamestown townships. Some Grand Rapids speculators challenged these purchases, and after unsatisfactory negotiations with the Ionia office, Van Raalte took his case before Gov. Cass, threatening to move the entire Holland colony to Illinois. Gov. Cass straightened out the matter in short order, and the Hollanders remained in Michigan.

As the colony grew, the village of Holland was platted, making Eighth St. and River Ave. the principal streets. First lots were sold at $15 each but the price soon rose to $38 a lot and $48 for a corner lot. A co-operative store was established at the foot of Seventh St. near a wharf on Black Lake.

Holland's first industry was an ash factory owned and operated by Henry Post and Van Raalte, manufacturing lye and potash salts for a Chicago market. Transportation was a problem, and the next industry was a small mill on Black River in the New Groningen area. This gave way to an ashery and a brick yard.

Education also had a modest start . . . a one-room cabin with the Bible as a textbook. Out of these humble beginnings has grown a city with a self-supporting business which rates high in the state, an educational system which boasts a college known throughout the country, and a religious community which has some 75 churches of varying denominations.

All due to one man's insight and his faith in the future. Dr. Van Raalte remained until his death Nov. 4, 1876.

School Board Votes Cutbacks

Several decisive steps to curb expenditures in this year's budget were taken by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night in an attempt to meet cutbacks in state aid.

Three moves introduced by Treasurer Charles Bradford were unanimously approved by the seven-member board as follows:

1. A 10 per cent across the board cut on all budget items for fixed charges and commitments. This may save $20,000.

2. A freeze on all capital outlays not under contract. This may save $18,000. Hopefully, the cut would be made up next year.

3. Freeze all accounts which have been expanded beyond budgeted items.

The action was taken after Supt. Donald L. Ihrman read a communication from State Treasurer Allison Green that because of a cash crisis in Lansing, state aid payments in February would be reduced 40 per cent, which in Holland's case amounts to $100,000. In addition, the governor's recommended 2 per cent cut in state aid, not yet resolved, may result in another $30,000 reduction. The 40 per cent cut hopefully will be temporary, Ihrman said.

The board also instructed Gardner Wierenga, in charge of personnel, not to recruit any new teachers for replacement except for special education which is reimbursable by state and county funds. Treasurer Bradford said a delay in hiring teachers was distasteful and hopes in future years that a better system could be devised, yet he saw no other alternative in the present money bind.

Hiring teachers is associated with the new 1971-72 budget and the need to renew operating millage. The 3.75 mills raised last year was for one year only. This was in addition to a current 10-mill levy which was voted five years ago and it still in effect.

Supt. Ihrman also called attention to a legislative bill last November which calls for a seventh member to county allocation boards. This board had been set up originally with three education oriented members and three county members. The seventh member will be a township officer to be appointed by the sheriff, the county clerk and the county treasurer.

Attention also was called to a Supreme Court opinion last year which requires public school districts to provide books and other supplies free of charge to students. This amounted to close to $75,000 in the Holland district's case, drastically reducing a hoped for balance at the close of the year.

The board also voted not to conduct a school census this year, incurring a saving of some $1,500.

A special meeting of the board has been called for Feb. 16, the day after the special election for transportation millage, to discuss operating millage needs.

All board members were present at the meeting which lasted two hours. President Lamb presided and gave the invocation.

Holland Lashed By Winds, Rain

The weatherman dealt Holland another blow Thursday night and early today with rain, sleet, snow, freezing temperatures and strong winds.

All combined to force the closing of area schools and contributed to electrical power outages in Holland and Allendale.

Temperatures at 11 a.m. today dropped to 25 degrees, freezing rain-covered streets and sidewalks. Blowing snow concealed the icy patches and created limited visibility for motorists.

Winds clocked at up to 80 miles an hour at the Tulip City Airport caused some roof damage to buildings and blew in some windows.

Dutch Hold Off Inspired Bucs

GRAND HAVEN — The Bucs of Grand Haven gave favored Holland High all they wanted here Saturday night before falling to Coach Don Piersma's strong basketball quintet, 74-65.

Grand Haven held a surprising 50-49 lead over the Dutch heading into the final eight minutes of play with Holland responding to the challenge by firing in 25 points and holding Coach Al Schaffer's club to only 15 to win going away.

"They sure played a great game against us," commented Piersma. "I'm just glad to get out of there with a win."

Schaffer added, "it was one of our better team efforts of scoring of Steve Shinabarger to knot the score at the close of the quarter at 16-11.

The second stanza remained close, as Holland held the upper hand at 31-29 at the half over the inspired Bucs, who were trying their best to upset the highly rated Dutch machine.

With Bill Wood and Mike Risen coming off the bench to spark the Dutch in the third quarter with four and five points respectively Holland fought with determination against the fired up Bucs to only trail at the period stop, 50-49.

Helms set the stage for the final stanza by dropping in a short basket and the Dutch were never headed as Albe and center Terry Rutherford eventually fouled out.

Holland won the first game quite easily from the Bucs, 71-50 in the Fieldhouse but had to go all out to down Grand Haven this time around.

"Wood played a fine game for us," elated Piersma. "I was also pleased with our zone defense in the fourth period."

Coach Ken Bauman's reserves went down to its fourth defeat in 12 games, 72-57 to Grand Haven in the prelim contest.

Bruce Brossett led the winners with 18 points while Ross Lamb found the range for Holland with 20 points. "Lamb was just great for us tonight," said Bauman.

Ron Israels and Al Wolbrink followed with 11 and 10 points in that order.

The Dutch, now 10-2 for the season, will host tough Muskegon Heights Friday.

A complete financial report on the dance will not be available until all ticket money and bills have been submitted, but the committees are predicting a financial success to equal or surpass last year.

Minnie Pot User Is 'Trapped' By Holland Officers

Holland police have trapped their "minnie" marijuana user. Officers said they had been looking for a mouse seen nibbling high grade marijuana held as evidence in a storage room at the police station.

But officers were wondering whether it was the cheese or the marijuana that attracted the mouse to the trap.

NOSE Tips

by Leo Martonosi

Phil Regan, a two-time "National League fireman of the Year" winner, once again was the Chicago Cubs' top relief pitcher in 1970.

Although falling off from a great 1969 year where he won 12 and dropped six games and saved numerous others, Regan still was the busiest man on the Cubs staff in appearances with 55 and led his team in saves with 12.

The former Wayland flash, who now makes his home in Byron Center said in a recent interview, "I'm really looking forward to the start of the baseball season and I honestly believe that the Cubs have a great chance of winning their division."

"This year's team is the best that I have ever been associated with in Chicago. The main reason we are better than the past two years when we finished second to the New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates in that order is because of Milt Pappas and Joe Pepitone."

Chicago made two great deals in picking up the hard throwing Pappas from Atlanta for something over the waiver price and obtaining Pepitone from the Houston Astros last summer.

"These guys were just terrific

Phil Regan
Cubs relief ace
for us last year and having them for the whole year has got to help."

What's it like playing with Pepitone? "Pepitone is one of the most liked players in Chicago. I think that a lot of stuff said about him were not true at all. He keeps the team loose all the time and just loves to play in Chicago," added Regan.

Although Regan wasn't too pleased with his performance last year, he is looking for far better things in 1971. "My arm is in the best condition it has been in years. The main reason that it feels so strong is probably because I didn't pitch as many innings last year as I normally do."

"The Pirates are the team to beat in our division and the Mets will be contenders if Tommy Agee does the job. He is by far their key ball player.

If the Cubs don't win this year, will manager Leo Durocher get the axe?
"It's hard to say but I do know that the pressure is not only on Leo but on all of us. We owe the fans in Chicago a pennant and we hope to give it to them this year." I felt we were the best team in our league for the past two years and I feel that way about this year's club."

"The ex-Tiger pitcher told us that his good friend Frank Lary had a nervous breakdown at his home state of Alabama. "He was the last person in the world that you would ever believe that could happen to."

Regan has indicated that former Cub and Tiger pitcher Hank Aguirre is not playing baseball anymore. "I was really surprised that the Cubs let him go last year after he had a 3-0 record," stated Phil.

"It looks like Durocher will be trying to get more closer to his players this year. I know that we were surprised that he came down to watch us play basketball a few times this winter."

The likeable Regan would much rather participate in spring training in Florida than in Scottsdale, Arizona where the Cubs now practice for the start of the season.

"It's easier to get in condition in Florida and the humidity is the big difference between Florida and Arizona. You see more hitting in Arizona than Florida and fewer shut outs. It has to be a bigger advantage to the hitters than the pitchers."

Regan did indicate that it did bother him when some manager would come running out of the dugout after every pitch and accuse him of throwing a spitball. "It really threw my rhythm off," Regan added. "Mr. Chub Feeley (National League president) told me recently that the managers won't be able to get away with intimidating the umpires this year like they did in the past." They never proved that Phil throws the spitball and like our law says, "you're not guilty until proven guilty," and we feel the same way about Regan. If they can't prove nothing, leave him alone because it's hard enough pitching in the majors but to have to think in the back of the mind of some manager racing out of the dugout, it's got to effect your pitching.

Regan feels that the press has treated him fair in Chicago but can't understand why the fans get so angry with Ron Santo. "He's always giving 150 per cent and what more can they ask for. I think his main problem last year was he was pressing too much."

The friendly Regan, who would like to close out his career in Chicago continued, "we will have to be more consistent in 1971 to win the flag. I believe the pitching will be better but our real strength is our everyday ball players."

Ray Newman, a left-handed pitcher from Muskegon, has a good chance of making the Cubs ball team this year according to Regan. "He really throws the ball hard."

Regan doesn't feel that a new stadium will be built in Chicago in the near future and adds, "I would like to see one built but it would take away some of the tradition at Wrigley Field if they did."

"There is a lot more to managing in the majors than the average fan thinks. A manager today has not only got to make the right decisions but has to keep his ball club happy and their spirit up," stated Regan.

"I know that our players really like Durocher because he stands 100 per cent behind them." Regan should know because he was the player representative for the Cubs but gave up the job last year because it took too much of his time and he wanted to just concentrate on pitching.

A religious man, who likes to be involved in church work told us that Santo, Glen Beckert, Don Kessinger and J. C. Martin and their wives have been studying the Bible together.

When we asked Phil how can we stop the drug problem in our society he responded, "the only way I know we can stop it is through Christianity." Phil, you couldn't have put it any better as far as we are concerned.

Regan doesn't pray to win when he pitches but only to accept what God wants to happen. "I pray for His way which is the only way."

We would like to conclude this article with "Making the Right Pitch" by Phil Regan and told to Phil Landrum. We think it's just the greatest and hope you feel the same way.

"I'm a relief pitcher — one who is most apt to come into a ball game in the late innings. A lot of people wonder about the pressure a relief pitcher faces. You come in during the late innings where one bad pitch can mean the end of the game. You might have the bases loaded and might be facing the best hitter on the other team. This is where the pressure is. It took me one-half of a season (with Los Angeles) to get over the nervousness of coming into a ball game in these situations. If I lose the lead, I get charged with a "lost." If I enter the game with the other team in the lead and hold them from scoring, and our team beats them, I get credit for a "win." Or I may hold the lead that our team has and get credited with a "save."

"You can see then, that a save is very important to a relief pitcher and his ball club. However, the word "save" means much more to me.

"After graduation from high school, I attended one year at Western Michigan University. I played football, basketball and baseball and I felt that anything that I would hope to get out of life I would get from working harder than the next fellow.

"All my life, I wanted to be a major league baseball player. I thought about it all the time. After completing my first year at college my dream came true. I signed with the Tigers and started my career with Jamestown in the Pony League.

"One year later I married Carol, my high school sweetheart. Carol became a Christian when she was about 13 but she was not what you would call a strong one. So we established an agreement that one Sunday I would go to her church and the next Sunday, she would come to mine. What happened? We went to her church but I don't think she ever came to mine.

"They say the wife has the last say but not in this case. I would take our daughter Susan to the Sunday School and stay with her and never go to the main auditorium for the sermon.

"When my son came along, I did the same thing. I sat downstairs and listened to my children sing songs, etc., for about four or five years, that's as far as I wanted to go with religion. I really wasn't interested.

"If the pastor came to our house, I would excuse myself from the room or go out into the yard. Meanwhile, my wife was maturing quite a bit in her Christian faith and was faithfully praying for me.

In July, 1960, the team I was playing with had a close call while traveling. When I got home, my wife was in tears.

"I asked her what was wrong. "She said that she had the fear that if the plane crashed, I would have died without knowing Jesus Christ as my Saviour."

"Then, she showed me what the Bible says, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

"This really tore down my argument that if I didn't drink or smoke, etc., I had as much right to heaven as anyone else. The Bible tells us that there is no way we can earn this salvation. I realized it's not a matter of buying it, I just had to reach out and accept it by faith. I was glad to learn that God loved me enough to send His Son Jesus Christ to die on the cross for me. So that night I accepted Jesus Christ as my Saviour and was "saved" from a life without God and from eternal judgement. It was the greatest "save" I have ever experienced."

And we agree, too, Phil old buddy.

More Snow In Holland

Winter returned again to Holland Tuesday, dumping yet another blanket of fluffy white snow on icy surfaces and rutty drives.

Intermittent snow obscured vision at times, and a good many cars traveled with lights, despite occasional sunshine.

Weather Observer Lynn P. Wheaton said the overnight snowfall measured one and three-quarter inches, leaving snow deposits at 22 inches on the ground.

The overnight low was 9 degrees, rising to 12 at 6 a.m. Charles Vander Ven, known as Chuck the barber, said 37 years ago today the temperature sank to -28 degrees. He remembers the day well since his son was born that day and he walked from Holland Hospital to 13th St. because no cars or taxis were running.

Incomplete Sentinel records list a low of -24 on two occasions in February, in 1912 and 1918.

Truck, Car Collide
